BACKGROUND INFORMATION

In September 2016, the Board approved a 19-metric Research and Innovation Dashboard to document the progress that the System is making towards the expenditure goal and the System's progress towards achieving national and international prominence in research. The dashboard includes metrics that quantify research activity and growth in the categories of "Research Contracts and Grants," "Innovation," "People," and "Return on Investment." The first dashboard was presented to the Academic and Research Excellence Committee in March 2018, with updates annually.

Ms. Emily Sikes, Assistant Vice Chancellor for Strategic Initiatives and Economic Development, will present the results of the 2022 research and innovation dashboard to the committee.
